INTRODUCTION
Based on the account of Luzano (2017) Ilokano is known for the research was conducted to identify the sayings that the Ilokanos so much believed in; know what cultures and traditions are reflected in the Ilokano sayings; Based on the result of the research conducted: 1. The sayings that were so much believed in by the Ilokanos are the following: A mature person always put his feet on the ground and foresee his next step (Ti tao nga ublod madintu pulus mapagtalkan); Even it pours a gold of bars, if you are a lazy man, you could not pick anything at all (Uray agtudo ti balitok nu ti tao ket sadot madinto pulos makapidot; Iti utang mabayadan, ngem ti naimbag a nakem saan); A person who do not have debt of gratitude will never be successful in life (Ti dina ammo a taliawen ti naggapuanna, saan a makadanon ti papananna).2. The cultures and traditions that are reflected in these sayings are: not forgetting where he/she came from; being responsible; being industrious; more prudent towards other people; being helpful and unselfish; being thrifty; being honest; being respectful; and being hardworking. 3. The Ilokano sayings are being applied in their everyday life by practicing their culture and tradition freely. 4. The Ilokano sayings they so much believed in also become the basis of their honorable and progressive living.

1.1. Literature review / Theoretical background

According to Lincoln Barcon (2014) culture is defined as the language, beliefs, values, and norms that combine to make up the way of life of any society. The term civilization is similar, but not the same as culture. Civilization is used mostly to refer to the advanced way of life and the things that improve a society. Civilization is therefore, an improved from of culture. Culture on the other hand is any way of live: whether simple or complex. Based on the study of Shaira from Mindanao State University (2014) Sayings are powerful and word for thought of the people it gives lesson and guide in everyday living. In relations to the lecture series of Villafuerte (2000) Sayings is a short statement that gives justice, truth and has a basis of norms and values.

In the recent Timpuyog Dagiti Mannurat nga Iluko iti Filipinas Journal (April-May Edition 2017) and April 2018 Edition. Ilokano writers are given the opportunity to publish their articles written in Ilokano. On the article written by a prolific Ilokano writer Mr. Crispin D. Dannug, Jr. entitled “Saluad ti lennguahe ken kultura dagiti Ilokano” he mentioned the need to revitalize the Iloko language and the culture of the Ilokanos. Ilokano is spoken as a first language by some 7 million people, primarily in Northern Luzon specific in Cagayan Valley. It is also spoken as a second language by possibly another 2 million speakers in the northern areas of Luzon as a lingua franca in trade, commerce, and everyday communication. Many ethnic groups from the northern regions of the country are more proficient in Ilokano than in Tagalog, the national language. Nevertheless, at present, Ilokano remains a regional language with no official status. Its use in education is limited to the early elementary grades. Hence 54.20%, speaking Ilokano in the region.

SELECTED AXIOMS OF ILOKANOS

1. “AGKUPAS TI NAPINTAS A RUPA AGBALIW MET TI NAPINTAS A PAMMAGI NGEM DIN TO AG KUPAS TI BABAEG NGA ADDAAN ITI NAPINTAS A UGALI”

We don’t need to change our face our body or our physical appearance we just need to be the true we are. We don’t need make up, lipstick, and different cosmetics. Although, we can change our physical appearance that cosmetics can change our behaviour. Because, what is beauty if you have negative attitude, what is sexy body if, you have bad deeds. It’s better to be ugly if you have a good deeds, and if you have a clean heart. Being ugly is not bad, doing wrong doing is bad one. According to that line, a face can change but character cannot. But, it depends to the people who had this character, because there are people changing his/her attitudes. And they where afraid in the Lord so, they hide because of what they’ve done. We all knows that this line we can relate, do not make bad things, if you didn’t want to shame to shame to the other people or God. That was just the one of the thousand example.

Being good is makes you beautiful, then making bad doing makes you ugly.

2. Nu Agtudo, Matudwan Amin a Tao (Gifts Must Be Given To all)

Blessing is the biggest things that we accept in our life that came from our Almighty God. Like our life, good health, and most important is our family. A family were in we are getting strength to overcome many challenges that we encountered.

And all things that we have is the reason why we inspired, inspired to do our obligation for our self, family and for our country. but why other people treated us unfairly? I think because of their power. a power to get what they want though they know that we need to be fair for others so what we need to do? We need to treat everyone as a family, a family who helping each other to built a good family as a whole. But why we experiencing challenges, I think because of our self and because of the others. Our self because we are the one who need to work hard so that we experience a good life others because sometimes they are the one who making ourselves down. But we don’t need to be affected because the only key to success is our self not the others.so a blessing in our life is not just a small thing because all things that we have now and all things that we feel now is a blessing.

So what we need to do? We need to be fair for everything so that all people must give gifts or blessings. Not only a person who have a power to get what they want. So remember all people is born to be fair not to be unfair.
Be Thankful Always, God has a purpose

3. No maparagsak ka, ket pagsakak met.

If i make you happy im happy too. You make me smile the way you smile without you im not complete that is the explanation for that this phrase it gives inspirations to others to do something simple to make people happy. Like if you are in love you will do everything you will give your best to makes your prince/princess happy.

Be Happy and spread positivity.

4. No trabaho, Gulpien, No kanen, In-inutem.

This means that we need to economize because it is hard to find another work. We need to do that because our life is just poor only its’ hard to find money to buy all your needs. In this scenario we don’t waste the time to work just do what you want and you must buy all your needs. Its means that don’t be arrogant we need to more on working than to spending. We need to serve or save money for the future. We have or its better to get excite on working than spending. Some people are more on spending than working. Those people who are not thinking for their future are sometimes called “one day millionaire”. If it's work, do it fast. If it's food, eat it little by little. They said time is gold, when you work, do it fast. Do your work with your best. Do it fast so that it will finish early. Do it fast so that their is time for the other. Just manage your time. Don't waste your time. On the other hand, if it is food, eat it little by little. It says that when you eat, don’t be so fast. Let's eat normally. It is better to eat slowly than to eat so fast because that is bad for your or our health. I know that everyone of us wants or like to eat all the time. And that's what Filipino is. When we see some foods, we are craving because we want that food or we are hungry. But at the sayings says, eat it little by little so you will become more healthy.

Be Accountable of everything happen in your life.

5. AWAN TI MASULEK NGA MADI AGIVA

Accidental part on the eye makes everyday cry. It means no one can get angry when you made not good for them. All people should felt angry when we made not good for them. I think they made this phrase for those people who don’t know what other people feel when they made not good. Or they don’t know what will be the feeling of these people recieved not good words.

You can’t Please Everyone!

6. Awán kas iti sursúro a sanikuá, ta daytá awán makatákaw kenká.

Knowledge is wealth that can't be stolen.
Education is Knowledge. Education is the process where an individual learns information so that he/she can use it to enhance his/her abilities for his/her future.

It answers all the questions that we have. It enhances our skills. It also tells us about our past and its story. Most importantly, it is our valued treasure.

This treasure is the only thing in our life that cannot be stolen. Our parents spend a lot of money for us to be educated and they know that it is all worth it.

When we die, we cannot bring all the earthly things in Heaven, but I believe that we can bring what we have learned while we are still on earth. We should share to other people the knowledge that we have learned so that they can also share it to the generations to come.

Education is indeed the most precious treasure that any of us can have. Once we have been educated, it is now up to us how we will use and treasure it. It needs a lot of perseverance and concentration so that we can be educated.

It will take us lots of time to develop our skills, which are all part of achieving god education. If we have been educated, it is not impossible to reach our goals, dreams and ambitions in life.

Education does not have any hindrances as long as we are willing and eager to learn and give our attention to it. We need to sacrifice a lot and keep in our minds that it is for our own good and for our future.

We need to have goals, dreams and ambitions in life so as not to waste our time in not so important things.

As long as we are willing to pursue our dreams, it is not impossible to reach it. There are lots of options for us to choose from and all we have to do is to work hard, sincerely and seriously.

We need to work hard so that we can mold ourselves into competitive and knowledgeable individuals in the future. Money should not be an issue for this matter because it is your will that counts which help you predict your own future. We must remember that education is the most precious gift that one could ever have. Education is the only treasure that cannot be stolen from us.

Knowledge is Power. One who has the right knowledge and works hard and smart will be successful in any task. Knowledge gives us the ability to think in all the ways. A person with Knowledge can solve a problem easily than with a person without knowledge.

Knowledge is Wealth. If a person thinks money can rule the world, the person is definitely wrong. To conquer the world, Knowledge is very important.
Knowledge is the path of wisdom; Knowledge helps us to differentiate between good and bad; right and wrong; worthy and unworthy. Only when a person is educated, he/she gets the ability to judge a situation. To overcome any problem, Knowledge is significant.

We all would have heard this saying in many places “Give a man a fish, he will eat one day; Teach a man how to fish he will eat every day”. This is a very true saying that applies to everyone’s life.

There is no best help than helping a person to enhance knowledge. If we have money, we can make a living. But if we are enriched with knowledge, we can make money ourselves. We can lead a great life if we have the power to tune our life ourselves through the knowledge we gained.

Educating ourselves alone is not enough; emphasizing the importance of knowledge to the society is quite essential. We should think about the goodness of the whole society. We should empower the minds of young students through motivations we give to them. Creating awareness on the importance of knowledge over everything is the need of the hour. Knowledge is the biggest wealth in life.

The most powerful weapon in this world is Knowledge. Great men have conquered and ruled the world with their Knowledge. We would have heard the saying “Pen is Mightier than Sword”. War can break worlds but a wise decision that comes through the knowledge of a person can bring in peace without loss.

Knowledge is very important for any person, be it rich or poor. A person is judged by his knowledge, not by his money or appearance. A person who has skill and knowledge wins the race any day. So it is good to educate ourselves and motivate others to improve their knowledge so that the day to success is not far away. True that thieves cannot steel a person's knowledge. If the second part of the query is to know whether any research or inventions could be secured to avoid steeling, then the answer is that all researched products and inventions are patented and ownership registered.

Knowledge is unlimited you can take it free and share for the good of everybody.

7. Ti kamátis, di agbúnga ti manggá.

The tomato plant doesn't grow mangos. A good person doesn't come from a bad family because if you really come from a good family I believe you have been taught good morals and really brought you up.

Some people also come from a good family but do not listen to her parents’ teaching and maybe they have influenced her to become a bad person. But when you come from a bad family does not mean that you are not too bad because not everyone comes from that bad because people also get good because maybe they do no want to be bad.

A parents doesn’t like to have a child that has a bad attitude so many parents teach their child to be a good person.

_in life family is one of the good foundational institutions to build our character._

8. Ti saan nga agayat, saan nga ammo to Diyos, ta ti Diyos ket ayat

Whoever does not love does not know God, because god is love. When you love God he will love you more than you think, because god created us to worship him, serve him.

If you believed that there is a God and you know that Gods loves you to be sure he will bless you but when you forget God you expect him to love you because whatever happens God loves you because you are his or her child and he created you to be with him.

_God is love_

9. Saan nga amin ketagtalinaed, sursuruem ti agpalubos

Not everyone stays forever, You have to learn to let go.

Letting go is one of my biggest personal struggles.

The idea of "letting go" naturally implies that you’ve been holding onto something. It requires an object; there has to be something to let go of. We tend to latch on to certain expectations, ideals, or dreams, and our attachment to these things causes us innumerable problems.

More than likely, there are a number of fears limiting you in your approach to life. And each of those fears, at its core, has to do with holding on to how we want things to be.

Whether it’s a fear of failure, a fear of letting go of control, a fear of abandonment or of trusting others, a fear that you’re not good enough, or a fear of not being accepted for who you are -- all of these fears have the same solution: letting go.

By holding on to how you want things to be, you’re also intrinsically holding on to the fear that things won’t turn out that way.

You need to let go of your expectations or ideals to release the fear of not having them come to fruition. Learn to accept and trust yourself, as well as the present moment (reality).
And then stop trying to have control over other people and over life in general. We sometimes fall victim to the illusion that we have control, but we really don’t. Let go and accept that you can’t control others or most of the world around you.

Everything is impermanent. Everything. And that’s pretty scary. Thinking about it elicits fear in us (at least, it does in me). So when we’re confronted with change, impermanence, and loss, we respond with resistance, and we attempt to gain or exert control over things.

Instead of resisting, we need to accept that change is the nature of life. We can’t alter that, and there’s no point in fighting it. Doing so will only cause us to suffer.

Letting go sounds so simple. However, it’s anything but. These problems and patterns that I’ve reviewed can be deeply ingrained in us. And we tend to protect them and continually return to them, because in doing so we feel like we’re protecting ourselves.

In order to let go, you need to dig down deep and realize that you don’t need protection. You need to recognize and believe that you’ll be okay - that everything will be okay.

If you’re able to let go and start accepting things as they are instead of how you’d like them to be, you’ll find that you’ll suffer less from the problems of stress, emotional ties to the past or future, frustration with others, struggles with loss, and succumbing to fear.

By letting go, you’ll set yourself free.

Letting go of things, whether it’s your own choices and actions, events from your past or things said, is one of the biggest obstacles many people face when it comes to getting sober. Addiction is a terrible disease and when we’re under its grasp, we often say and do horrible things, often to the people that mean the most to us.

When you’re facing these actions and the things we’ve said in the cold light of sobriety, it can be extremely embarrassing or painful, which is a big reason learning to let those things go is important. The past is the past, and as much as we may wish otherwise, nothing that we do now can undo or change what we’ve done or said in that past.

When you learn to let go of those things, or let go of what others have done to you, you’re giving yourself the chance to do better in the future. If we hold on to mistakes or the things that shame us, we’re dwelling on them, not learning from them.
It’s important to learn to acknowledge your actions and how you feel, but then you have to let it go to make room for bettering yourself. Learning from those mistakes and then pushing them out of mind will go a long way in helping you have a more steady sobriety, and by letting it go, you’re loving yourself enough to let go rather than just let it fester in your mind.

Learning to let go of your past and your past mistakes is one of the best things you can do for your future and your recovery, and you may feel a physical release of tension once you truly begin to let go. Letting go makes room for the life you want to live in the future, not the one you left behind in addiction.

Love always win no matter how challenges attack us.

10. Saan uray inton kaano ibaga dayta kukuayo natan-ok, no dakayo aramiden awan pagraemen ken iti luma nga tatiao.

Never say that you’re a genius if you do not have respect to your older people. A genius is mostly never connected. A genius isn’t always able to connect to everyone. There almost always is a social complex. Someone with a very high IQ would hardly be able to be comfortable with your general crowd. So, if you want to spot a genius, look for someone disconnected, but not with a look of void on their face. They’ll be engrossed in something that is beyond the grasp of a regular individual. So in short, someone who exhibits the symptoms of being a dumb social outcast with a certain sharpness in their eyes, and a bit of spark in their behaviour. A genius may not always be able to relate to people and their humour as so rightly mentioned in the answer wiki. Well, the reason then again being the inability of the genius to perceive something mundane and routine as actually something mundane and routine. A genius person may seem like odd to some, but there is a reason behind their “madness.” A genius tends to have really high intellect, is very creative, and engages in some odd behaviours.

Their high IQ is very beneficial to many things, people, and issues that need dealt with. Many geniuses have invented things that have changed the world, only to live life outside of the spotlight. This article explains the different signs and traits of someone who is a genius. Because of their high IQ, geniuses have a hard time connecting with people. They tend to keep to themselves due to other interests that the common population are not interested in. They don’t often marry or have children, and don’t fit in on the common social calendar. Geniuses also have a hard time conversing with others. Their mind tends to only speak as needed, instead of bantering or chatting. When they speak, it is about something very important. They may even suffer from a touch of social anxiety disorder, because they always feel like they don’t “fit in.” All geniuses seem to have developed the ability to concentrate single minded on one question, problem or goal at a time, and to exclude all other diversions or distractions. The more intensely you concentrate your thoughts and attention, and the more intensely you are emotionally involved with a problem or goal, the more likely it is that your mind will respond with the kind of creative ideas that you need. And the good news is that concentration comes from practicing the process of concentrating whenever you have something you want to accomplish.

One of the best ways to develop this habit of concentration is to define your goal or problem clearly, in writing, at the top of a piece of paper. Then, write down every single detail that you can think of that pertains to that goal or problem. Write every fact, figure and piece of information that you have. The more you write, the more likely it is that you will come up with exactly the idea that you need to solve the problem or difficulty that is currently holding you back. A genius is that they have incredible problem solving skills and developed a systematic approach to solving problems. Usually, they write them down clearly on paper in advance. Accurate problem definition leads to a solution in fully 50% of cases. Most of the time, when you have a problem or series of problems that is causing you worry or concern, it is because you have not yet sat down and clearly defined exactly what the problem is. Most people who are unhappy in life have no goals. The very act of sitting down and writing out a list of goals will change your perspective completely. When you take your list of goals, organize it by priority and then make written plans to achieve your most important goals, your mind will start to sparkle with ideas that will help you.

Your negativity and pessimism will vanish. You will experience a surge of energy and enthusiasm and you will want to get up and get going immediately on whatever it is you have written down. There are an enormous number of things that you think you “know” about your life and situation that are simply not true. One of the best ways to manage your creativity is to carefully check and double check your facts and figures to be sure that they are accurate. Being a genius person have respect to everyone. A respectful person is the person who gain respect from others, they only knew how to give respect to others. So we should call them a respectful person. Respect is esteem for, or a sense of the worth or excellence of, a person, a personal quality, ability, or a manifestation of a personal quality or ability. So says most dictionaries; but it goes far deeper than that. Respect is one of those words that can take on various meanings depending on its use both in speech and perception.
The more learning we have the more reflection is an evident expression of humbleness.
